Description

I have a brand new client that is looking to expand their first UK team with an Assistant/Highways Engineer due to huge success in winning work. This independent consultancy started in Spain over 50 years ago and now has offices across the Globe and they're now taking the UK market on and winning some fantastic, multi-million projects.

They've won a large amount of work on HS2 Phase one which involves new major roads, road alignments and junction improvements alongside major projects with National Highways. this means that they are currently looking to recruit a, Assistant/Highways Engineer major project design experience using Civil 3D.

Their office is in Central London and is growing quickly, after just 18 months they have grown to over 7 engineers showing just how committed to the growth and success of the team here in the UK. You could be joining a consultancy at the beginning of a major UK consultancy giving long term career opportunities like no other.
