Technical CAD Designer – Furniture – Office based role in Plymouth, Devon

Does your checklist for your next job look something like this?

- * Work for a financially secure business with nearly 50 years history of continued growth, making it a market leader in its sector...Check!
- * Be part of a workplace family where integrity, respect and collaboration are the primary values...Check!
- * Have opportunities for professional development and career progression as the company continues to grow...Check!
- * ...and, of course, great earning potential with decent benefits and bonus...Check!

About the role...

An office-based position, working for one of the UK's leading specialists in flat-pack/panel furniture for the education sector.

As a technical CAD technician you'll be turning concept designs into detailed CAD drawings that can be sent to the panel supplier, ready for manufacture.

Day to day, your role will include:

- * Technical design of panel products including Classroom, Laboratory and Food Tech benching, storage, and cabinets
- * Liaising with the Interior Design team to realise the client's designs in an innovative and intelligent solutions-orientated way.
- * Developing the range into a class-leading range of products with constant improvement and development

* Liaising and negotiating with material suppliers regarding products, lead times, colour options and components.

You'll be great for this role if you...

* are experienced in producing accurate, detailed designs for panel (flat packed) furniture

* can confidently produce 2D and 3D CAD production drawings for panel products

* can read design drawings

* have experience in CAD and 3D rendering software (experience with Vectorworks and Enscape would be advantageous but not essential)

* have great attention to detail coupled with strong visualisation skills to ensure effective design
