Company: Leeds Trinity University

Location: United Kingdom

Category: other-general

Working within the Graduate Outcomes and Enterprise Directorate this position will join our newly established Careers Education Team which will play a key role in supporting our strategic career led vision through working in collaboration with academic colleagues to co-design and deliver employability education. This role provides an opportunity for an experienced practitioner to shape our employability agenda and lead a range of initiatives with our Careers Education Manager.

We recently launched a new Graduate Attributes and Skills Framework, have begun the roll out of a Career Passport for every student and are undertaking a review of our placement and work-based learning model – this makes it an exciting time to be joining the university and a growing service as we achieve our career-led vision.

You'll have experience of embedding careers education in the curriculum and have strong labour market knowledge and have worked proactively with regional and national organisations and employers. Candidates will also be experienced in leading, developing and delivering engaging innovative careers and employability activities in a variety of settings and able to build positive professional relationships with a variety of stakeholders internally and externally.

This advert will close as soon as we receive a suitable number of applications.

We have a campus based in Horsforth and we have a new campus opening in Leeds city centre. You may be required to work at both sites.

If you have any queries about the application process, please email or call 0113 283 7130.

Leeds Trinity University values diversity and inclusion and particularly encourages applications from the following groups as they are currently under-represented at this level within the University: Women, LGBT+ and Black, Asian and Minority Ethnic applicants, as well as candidates with disabilities, whether hidden or otherwise. The University will consider all forms of flexible working arrangements.
