Role

Are you passionate about creating secure and efficient software development lifecycles?

Join our dynamic team as a DevSecOps Engineer and be part of building cutting-edge solutions while driving process and automation improvements.

You'll have the opportunity to:

Collaborate with cross-functional, self-organizing teams to develop standardized, automated build processes across our projects and continuous improvement initiatives.

Take a hands-on role in designing, coding, testing, and implementing new functionality, embracing a continuous delivery mindset.

Utilize your specialized knowledge to provision environments via automated methods on cloud computing platforms.

Provide guidance and strategy on automation of software builds and releases to product teams.

Evaluate and implement DevSecOps tooling to enhance our processes and workflows.

Offer consultancy on database and application automation strategies to optimize service offerings and enhance load times.

Implement strategic monitoring solutions for application and infrastructure performance, including metric reporting and alert escalation.

Collaborate with developers to establish standards for builds and CI/CD pipelines, enabling continuous software delivery practices.

Manage environment configurations to facilitate automation of environment deployments.

Required Skills & Experience:

Solid understanding of security processes within a CI/CD pipeline.

Familiarity with general security posture and best practices within a development team.

Experience with Cloud platforms such as AWS, GCP, or Azure.

Knowledge of Infrastructure as Code (IAC) security best practices.

Proficiency in Terraform.

Familiarity with Azure Sentinel and general SIEM/SOAR solutions.

Benefits:

Competitive salary of £95,000.

5% bonus.

Pension plan.

Health care coverage.

Dental plan.

Responsibilities:

Assist, support, and contribute to the development of standardized, automated build processes.

Design, code, test, and implement new functionality while supporting existing services.

Provide guidance on automation and DevSecOps tooling implementation.

Offer strategic consulting on database and application automation.

Implement monitoring solutions for application and infrastructure performance.

Collaborate with developers to establish CI/CD pipelines and build standards.

Manage environment configurations for automation.
