Job description

One of the leading Environmental teams across the UK, is seeking an Environmental Solicitor to join them. You will be based out of any UK office, working with a national environmental and planning team, which is led by a Partner recognised within the field of environmental law.

The team works on a range of environmental law matters, including working closely with the corporate and real estate divisions to provide support and advise in sector including energy, waste and development. The work will include advising public and private sector companies on environmental matters such as natural environment, biodiversity and sustainability, contaminated land, waste and water, clean energy and natural environmental law like habitats and habitat protection.

You will be:

Ideally over 5 years PQE

Experienced in environmental law ideally with a focus or interest in habitats and natural environmental law

Self-sufficient, and able to work with less supervision

An excellent communicator, able to work across network of offices and teams.

On offer is a competitive salary and benefits package, as well as an opportunity to work for one of the UK's leading environmental teams.

If you wish to discuss this position for an environmental solicitor, please contact Emma Delli-Bovi for a confidential discussion.
