Company: Cleo AI

Location: United Kingdom

Category: computer-and-mathematical

For flavour, take a look at what Product Engineers do here!

<https://web.meetcleo.com/blog/what-do-you-do-frontend-engineer>. This role will involve:

Maintain and Enhance Application Performance: Regularly monitor and analyse app performance metrics. Implement strategies to optimise performance, ensuring high responsiveness of the application.

Implement and Manage Security Measures: Monitor security vulnerabilities and promptly apply security hot fixes.

Oversee Dependency Management: Efficiently manage and upgrade dependencies to ensure the application remains up-to-date and secure, while maintaining compatibility and performance standards.

React Native Upgrades

Optimize Development Pipelines: Streamline development pipelines for enhanced reliability and speed. Facilitate the Frontend team's ability to deliver features and improvements promptly and effectively.

Manage Shared Resources: Take ownership of shared libraries, components, and frameworks. Ensure they are well-maintained and regularly updated.

Facilitate Onboarding and Knowledge Sharing: Act as a bridge between various delivery teams, promoting collaboration and knowledge sharing. Assist in the onboarding of new engineers, ensuring they are well-versed in tools, processes, and best practices for quick integration into the team.

Getting involved in cross-cutting concerns that lift our entire engineering effort with the rest of the Frontend chapter.

Taking part in shaping all the work your squad does, not just the technical parts. Delivery is a team sport, and we encourage everyone at Cleo to share their ideas, so you can expect to be involved in product ideation sessions, retrospectives, ways of working sessions, product demos, OKR reviews.

About you

Firstly and most importantly, all of the above sounds exciting to you and you want to make a positive difference in society by improving the financial health of our users worldwide.

You've also read our company values and engineering principles which drive our ways of working and help us deliver working software to our users (both internal and external), learn what works and iterate quickly to improve it. You share and embrace these opinions and are passionate about using them to deliver value.

For this Frontend - Ops role, we also have some specific asks:

As this is an SE3/SE4 position, we're looking for someone with strong industry experience of using React Native / mobile DevOps for a minimum of 2+ years.

We'd ideally like to see some proven experience in the mobile space.

What do you get for all your hard work?

A competitive compensation package (base + equity) You can view our public progression framework and salary bandings here: <https://cleo-ai.progressionapp.com/>

Work at one of the fastest-growing tech startups, backed by top VC firms like Sofina, Balderton & EQT Ventures.

A clear progression plan We want you to keep growing. That means trying new things, leading others, challenging the status quo and owning your impact. Always with our complete support.

Flexibility : We treat you as humans first, employees second. Because we can't fight for the world's financial health, if we're not healthy ourselves. This means all the usual perks but it also means flexibility. We take pride in being a flexible workplace that trusts our Cleople to deliver their best work, giving you the autonomy to structure your day around morning drop-offs to school or daily dog walks.

Hybrid-first Join our hybrid-first team, where we blend the best of both remote and in-office work.
