Health and Safety Advisor

Leeds (flexible)

Permanent

£35,000 to £40,000 per annum + benefits

Shirley Parsons has exclusively partnered with a leading global Engineering Consultancy that is currently seeking a Health and Safety Advisor. This role will play a pivotal part in enhancing the internal Health and Safety culture while overseeing the implementation, monitoring, and continuous improvement of Health and Safety systems. This opportunity offers a hybrid working arrangement and is well-suited to candidates based anywhere in the Leeds area, who are willing and able to occasionally travel to various sites across the UK. This position is particularly attractive for individuals with a few years of experience who are now seeking to take the next step in their career.

The Health and Safety Advisor will have the following responsibilities:

Providing guidance and expertise to the business and project teams on Health and Safety issues.

Planning, executing, and reporting on internal Health and Safety audits for both office facilities and projects.

Compiling and generating Key Performance Indicator (KPI) reports for Health, Safety,

Environment, and Quality (HSEQ) systems.

Offering guidance and expertise to the business in adherence to ISO 45001 standards.

The ideal Health and Safety Advisor should have:

Essential experience in Health and Safety, with desirable CDM knowledge.

Audit experience and/or qualifications, including implementing ISO 45001 management systems.

Minimum NEBOSH General/Construction Certificate; ideally educated to degree level or equivalent.

Ambitious and innovative mindset, eager to make a positive impact and drive change.
