HOCHTIEF (UK) Construction Limited is a leading international civil engineering company, specialising in complex market segments such as Transportation, Energy, Tunnelling, Building, Civil and Structural Engineering. We are looking to expand our team with skilled and enthusiastic individuals to deliver a tunnelling project in the beautiful region of Snowdonia. Our work will significantly enhance the visual impact of the area, burying a network of overhead cables and removing a number of pylons to restore and protect the natural beauty, wildlife and environmental heritage of this precious landscape. The project requires a Health & Safety Adviser to support the HOCHTIEF project team and supply chain on all health and safety matters; especially providing guidance and support through the construction phase with the support of the Health, Safety and Wellbeing Manager. The successful candidate will have a passion for health, safety and wellbeing, experience of working on major civil engineering construction projects and possess a NEBOSH General or Construction Certificate.
