Category: other-general

Contract: day-rateLength: 6 months initial (1.5-2 year scope)Day-rate: £400-450/d (inside IR35)Location: London (hybrid)Domain: Loan portfolio databasing and analysis X4 Technology are recruiting for a day-rate contract role for an interim Analyst to work on the analysis and databasing of a loan portfolio for a global bank. You'll be covering both vanilla and bespoke loan products. The scope of the engagement is 1.5-2+ years with a day-rate of £400-450/d inside IR35.Project context for the Interim Analyst (Loan Portfolio Databasing)In response to regulatory legislation, our client is kicking off a high-profile project to review, optimise and transform their portfolio of loans - with the end goal of understanding what sections of their portfolio can be reasonably pledged given some of the constraints they need to abide by in contractual agreements.Requirements for the Interim Analyst (Loan Portfolio Databasing)To support the loan transformation project, our client require an Analyst on an interim basis who has deep understanding of loan products and portfolios, including the legal contracts and legalese which sit behind these loan products and portfolios. This is an urgent contract position with first stage interviews being lined up from W/C 15th April with the intention of starting the role within 2 weeks thereafter. So if you're a Analyst who is looking for an interim day-rate contract role and have strong domain knowledge around loan products then please apply online for immediate consideration.
