Description

Role: Intermediate Electrical Engineer (Building Services)

Location: Birmingham (Remote)

Salary: £30k - £37k (Negotiable upon experience)

Overview

My client is a multi-disciplinary consultancy that operate on an international basis. They provide technical engineering solutions for a variety of blue-chip clients on a national and global scale. They have an established UK-based Building services team spread across 4 of their UK Offices. They are currently seeking an Intermediate Electrical Engineer to work from their Birmingham office with flexibility to work hybrid or remotely.

Their 20-engineer strong MEP team work predominantly within the Education Sector including a variety of new build schools typically to RIBA stage 3. They also have secured worked across large schemes spanning the Healthcare & Residential Sectors as well as Net-Zero (Decarbonization) schemes.

They are now seeking an Electrical Engineer to lead projects, mentor graduate/intermediate engineers on design issues and liaise with clients. Their engineers enjoy regular development meetings and pay rises as well as option to work remotely.

Role

As an Intermediate Electrical Engineer, you will be expected to assist on the Electrical Design front for a variety of projects, reporting directly to the Director.

Ideally you will have:

An Electrical Engineering Degree or Building services related.

1+ years' experience working or knowledge of the building services consultancy.

Experience and an understanding of designing Electrical systems

Proficiency using Revit MEP, AutoCAD, DiaLUX (Preferable).

Knowledge of CIBSE guidelines.

Have the right to work within the UK

Training and Benefits

This business has a very proactive approach towards training and development of their employees and encourage their staff to be vocal about gaps in knowledge or ability so they can develop tailored and specific training programmes. They offer a healthy and competitive benefits package including the option for paid overtime.

Their full benefits package will be revealed when you meet them.
