

Mechanical Design Engineer

Apply Now

Company: IC Resources

Location: Cambridge

Category: architecture-and-engineering

I am working with a Cambridge-based Semiconductor company that focuses on sensor technology.

You will have the opportunity to work with world-class technology with a team of experienced scientists and engineers.

They are a successful business, which offers the chance for engineers to progress their career and achieve future aspirations where stability and support are provided.

They are looking for a Mechanical Design Engineer to create effective sensor application solutions.

What's required for a successful Mechanical Design Engineer?

- Design and assemble custom fixtures for test engineering group

- Contribute to program, project, and sprint planning

- Maintain personal tasks

- Report persona task status and results in meetings

If you are a Mechanical Design Engineer with electro-mechanical-fluidic system design knowledge, have experience using Solidworks, experience in fluidics systems, design, simulation, physical implantation, and testing then please apply to learn more.

If you are interested in this or other Mechanical Design Engineering opportunities, please contact Jade Arnott
