**Experienced PM with Civils experience required for upcoming project in major UK city****

Your new company

One of Northern Ireland's most established and market leading Construction companies are currently recruiting an experienced Project Manager for a new scheme in a major UK city. Having been established for over 50 years, this company have delivered bespoke and innovative large-scale projects from major building and civil engineering infrastructure contracts on national frameworks, to the revival of retail, residential and commercial projects.

Your new employer is a key player in the construction industry in Northern Ireland and have a spectacular portfolio of works throughout the UK & NI. As a Project Manager you will not only benefit from an attractive package, you will also avail of excellent training, progression and development opportunities.

Your new role

The initial project on which you will be based is inclusive of the construction of a large footbridge and road widening schemes in a major UK city.

As Project Manager, you'll be given full responsibility for the delivery of the project.

You will have proven experience and extensive knowledge of leading large-scale projects, managing and co-ordinating demanding schedules and budgets, demonstrating expertise in the successful delivery of valued, high-quality projects that meet the required standard.

What you'll need to succeed

It is required that you have suitable experience as a Project Manager working on large scale civils projects, with potential value up to £100m. With key projects taking place across the UK & Ireland, you must have a flexible attitude to travel.

To be successful in this position, you will be able to meet targets within time and budget whilst upholding the high standards set by your new employer. As PM, your role will be site based so it is expected that there will be travel required each week to fulfil the needs of the project.

Furthermore, you will also have previous Project Management experience on large scale multi-million-pound civils projects with some travel required each week.

What you'll get in return

This is an excellent opportunity that will offer a competitive company package including an attractive salary and favourable benefits including Car Allowance; Subsidised Private Medical Cover; Life Assurance Scheme; Living away from home allowance (where appropriate), Contributory Pension, 35 Days annual leave (Including Public Holidays).

With a stable network of long-term employees, your new employer sees the value in rewarding from within and offering a stable working environment.
