I have placed quite a few candidates with this organisation now, all have said glowing reviews about it, they're the leader in legal representation comparison and have rather interesting, unique data to work with. They are using modern Azure tools and have some very exciting initiatives! They are looking for an additional Snr Data Engineer to join a well established team, this could possibly suit a mid weight Data Engineer who has mentored others. Salary is circa 70K with a 5% bonus There is no sponsorship for this role, sorry. Responsibilities: Guiding a team of developers in the creation, optimization, and maintenance of automated systems and processes within specified projects Coordinating engineers to ensure compliance with standards and successful project delivery. Contributing to the continuous improvement of the team's performance. Enhancing the team's ability to fulfil commitments and achieve goals. Innovating and experimenting with technology to yield tangible business benefits. Regularly launching products and services resulting from your work and actively contributing to their success. Experience we are seeking: Thorough understanding of DataBricks and PySpark. Proficient knowledge of SQL and CosmosDB (or similar) databases. Expertise in designing, constructing, administering, and maintaining data warehouses and data lakes. Familiarity with Azure Cloud Services. Sound understanding of T-SQL programming. Exposure to Azure Data Lake technologies, including ADF, HDFS, and Synapse. Solid knowledge of Data Governance, Data Catalog, and Master Data Management. Understanding of Advanced Analytics and Model Management, encompassing Azure Databricks, Azure ML/MLFlow, and deployment of models using Azure Kubernetes Service. Excellent oral and written communication skills. Please apply if of interest.
