We are seeking a Senior Evaluation Consultant - Health & Social Policy to join a world-renowned, multinational leading market research organisation.

Our Client

A market research agency who have been in the industry for nearly 50 years, who focuses on delivering more than data for their clients. They are passionately curious experts who not only shape their insights into the markets they are working in but also to the True Understanding of society and People.

They utilise the best science, technology, and know-how and apply this with their four main pillar principles of speed, simplicity, security and substance to everything they do. An organisation that has real curiosity and a client-first mindset has been driving forward in the industry, collaborating with their clients to make market research the best it possibly can.

Key Duties

Managing evaluation projects through the full project cycle, from evaluation design to data collection and analysis, through to developing conclusions and recommendations;

Developing day-to-day client relationships while ensuring projects are delivered to budget and timescale;

Delivering insightful findings, based on robust research and analysis, drafted in clear and engaging reports and presentations

Line management of junior staff

Skills & Experience

Expertise in evaluation methods & design

Proven ability and a desire to manage evaluation projects to timescale and budgets with little supervision;

Time management skills and ability to work across multiple projects, prioritising tasks efficiently;

Well-developed analytical skills, including a strong understanding of Excel and other solution platforms;

Interest in developing junior members of the team to fulfill their potential;

Experience of working with NHS data, and conducting quantitative and economic evaluations in the healthcare market.
