- Confident in leading discussions on therapy area, drivers influencing treatment decision-making and patient pathways with clients and external experts
- Undertakes content delivery for more complex projects with minimal supervision from senior team and delegating to AMW/MWs as needed to ensure timely execution to a high standard
- Clear, persuasive writing style, able to develop a compelling narrative from complex information.
- Able to: Structure and write novel projects that may not have been executed previously
- Take responsibility for overall quality of deliverables with minimal oversight
- Apply critical thinking skills towards applying a project brief to achieve deliverables in a timely and efficient manner, challenging and evolving client briefs as appropriate to ensure a high-quality result aligned with a client's goals
- Understands how to balance telling a coherent and compelling story within the regulatory framework
- Able to review junior writers' work for adherence to brief, client objectives and quality of writing, providing constructive feedback to support professional development

Able to challenge client / account teams on the most effective approach in addressing client / brand needs

Has a point of view on client strategy and ensures messaging is meeting the strategic intent

Leads scientific discussion with clients and external experts as appropriate to capture briefs, resolve queries, and progress scientific content development in timely and efficient manner

Can 'sell' (i.e., present) work to clients and has the ability to articulate the story

Provides input and recommendations to enhance service offering and support organic growth of designated accounts

Can articulate the scientific story to non-scientific colleagues in a clear and concise manner

Able to flex to changing pressures from client timelines and needs while protecting QC steps to maintain output even if this means 'pushing back'

Proactively identifies new business opportunities with new and existing clients

Supports the development of scientific strategy for other therapeutic areas for new business and can present this as part of a pitch presentation

Trains/mentors and manages junior writers on writing and company processes

Provides scientific and editorial feedback regarding material development to peers in support of client goals

Drives project completion, ensuring all internal deadlines are met, and proactively deals with potential issues

Provides timely and accurate communication to accounts team on writer hours, and project progress

Leads meetings and strategic discussions with clients, authors, and advisors

Provides a proactive, solution-focused approach towards defining client brief and expectations, resolving queries, and addressing feedback

This position is a perfect fit for you if:

Our Company values –Best Together, Impact-Obsessed, Excellence Expected, Evolve Always and Accountability with an "I" – really speak to you.

You are adaptable, resilient, and OK with adjusting your scope, responsibilities, and focus as we grow. When things change, so do we. We're always evolving.

You are proactive, driven, and resourceful with strong prioritization skills and a desire to dive into the data.

You are highly organized self-starter, able to work independently and under tight deadlines.

What you should have:

Experience in a Medical Writing role within an agency environment

Educated to at least Master's degree level in life sciences, medicine, pharmacy or a related discipline. A PhD would be an advantage, but is not essential

Proven ability to work under pressure as business needs arise

Excellent written English (vocabulary and grammar), with good attention to detail

Good interpersonal and awareness skills

Excellent IT skills, particularly using Microsoft Word, Microsoft Excel and Microsoft PowerPoint

Understands and has experience of Veeva (this wouldn't be a daily task!)
