About Us Talogy has a 75-year story with purpose at the center. We were born in 1946 with the determination to use assessments to help young adults enter the workforce after a period of world turmoil. We've carried that purpose at our core and evolved so we can solve talent challenges for organizations around the world. From hiring to development to organizational culture, from emotional intelligence to safety to vertical solutions, we have done it all. At Talogy, we care deeply, we listen. Our experts craft the solutions that fit the talent challenges of our clients. Our software delivers over 15 million assessments annually and we continue to grow. We are technology nerds and people people. We work hard, we celebrate, we conceptualize and implement. If you are passionate about helping organizations meet their potential, Talogy is the right place for you.

Role The Senior Software Engineer role is within a team responsible for some of the web-based platforms that our clients use to manage their hiring process and deliver online assessments. The role involves supporting, maintaining, improving, and onward developing the existing platforms. The platforms are mostly .Net based with various technologies used across the different platforms. The team uses Agile methodologies, adapting them to best fit the team and works as part of a wider department supported by Devops, Scrum Masters and Product Managers. This role can be either based in our Guildford office, or remote based, with the team meeting up once every couple of months or so in the Guildford office for the day.
