Mid-Senior UI/UX Designer - £50-60k

Exciting content driven ed-tech business is looking for a mid senior digital designer with a keen eye for visual excellence and an understanding of design systems. Working closely with the existing team you'll be tasked with creating work that stands out and pushes creative boundaries. This is very hands on role.

Key Responsibilities:

Lead the design charge for our new learning platform

Designing captivating content for our platform, turning your ideas into story-driven visuals.

Support the product team and work seamlessly from design to development.

Own and manage projects from concept to completion

Requirements:

Master in Figma (wireframes to prototypes)

Familiar with establishing and navigating design systems

Creative maestro, excellent with the Adobe Suite (Photoshop, Illustrator, and Indesign, AE a bonus)

Translate creative briefs from ideation to the delivery

Able to think strategically and use common sense

Any experience with Webflow a real plus.

Great communicator, collaborator with a flexible organized approach

In return you'll get to join an innovative international ed-tech business that is a game changer in its market place and prides itself in embracing dynamic learning methods and blending them with engaging story-driven content.

Good salary and benefits. Central London, £50-60k, Hybrid working (2 days in West London).
