Software Developer (backend) Python / TypeScript/ AWS Edinburgh

Sadly sponsorship applications can not be supported

Are you ready to take your backend development skills to the next level? Do you thrive in a collaborative environment where innovation and teamwork are key? If so, this could be a perfect opportunity to join our client's core backend development team!

Our Edinburgh based, philanthropic are on a mission to build cutting-edge, cloud-based distributed systems with a focus on serverless architectures. As part of the core backend team, you'll play a vital role in creating solutions that meet the needs of our players and business stakeholders.

Here's what you can expect:

Build Scalable Solutions: Prioritising scalability, performance, and observability in everything they do.

Continuous Improvement: Practicing CI/CD, deploying changes continuously to deliver high-quality features of measurable value.

Collaborative Environment: Work closely with agile teams to refine user stories, plan work iterations effectively, and engage in local and international collaboration.

Embrace Innovation: Passionate about continuously improving the development processes, so you'll have the chance to put your ideas into practice.

Your Qualities:

Expertise in Python and Typescript.

Strong testing skills, including unit, integration, and end-to-end tests.

Experience with AWS and cloud-native serverless technologies.

Proficiency in deploying software via Jenkins and automation using Npm/Poetry, Bash, and Docker.

Proficient in using Git for source code control.

Please pop over a CV if you are interested in the role, can work without requirement for sponsorship and live local enough to visit the office weekly.
