Software Technical Lead

Bristol, UK ● England, UK Req #702 02 May 2024

We are the Information Intelligence Group (IIG) of CACI UK, a specialist software consultancy providing new bespoke solutions to solve our customers complex operational problems. As our business continues to grow, we are interested in speaking with an experienced Lead Software Engineer to join one of our live projects within the Central Government team.

We offer a hybrid approach to work where you choose how much or how little you work from our Bristol office. IIG has the culture and feel of a small business, paired with the benefits of our position in a much larger organisation. We offer a great L&D package including 5 days external training, a career coach and guilds to share innovation and learning. We also offer self-directed career progression, that fosters opportunities for success for us and our business.

THE OPPORTUNITY:

We have a wide variety of teams who support our customers on a range of interesting and complex projects, building new bespoke software solutions and providing them with up to date capability to meet their needs. As Technical Consultant (Software Technical Lead), you will join an Agile focussed team, gaining exposure to:

Implementing software solutions including design, development and testing

Using a wide range of technologies, specialising in the use of open-source libraries and components.

Utilising tools such as GitLab to build continuous integration pipelines, which help monitor and ensure software quality and security

Deploying software systems to a mixture of environments, including public (AWS and Azure) and private cloud

Full Software Lifecycle involvement: project concept formalisation; requirements analysis and specification; architecture design; implementation and delivery; training and support and software lifecycle and maintenance Lead teams and managing engagement with our clients.

THE FIT:

At IIG, there's no such thing as a typical solution – we're looking for talent that can keep up with our clients' challenges, and set the pace for new ideation. We value intelligence and fast learners, flexibility and excitement about tackling every new opportunity. Our work is highly collaborative, so friendly relationship builders are vital to our teams.

At present we are interested in speaking to Senior Engineers with hands on Full Stack experience. You will have commercial experience using a range of languages / technologies including Java, AWS, JavaScript, React (or Typescript). Previous consultancy experience is useful but not essential.

CULTURE & BENEFITS:

We take great pride in taking care of our talent, providing a highly dynamic, inclusive and team-led environment where everyone can thrive. We value every member of our business, and strive to be a place you're excited to work. Our market-leading package of benefits reflects this.

WELLBEING - Free 24/7 counselling helpline and employee assistance programme

WORK YOUR BEST - City-centre offices across the UK, combined with flexitime and at home working

LEARN & GROW - Assigned Career Coach to holistically guide development

SOCIAL - Get-togethers throughout the year, from ad hoc socials to the Summer Party in London and annual awaydays

Due to the industries we work in, we require all our team to be able to obtain security clearance. To qualify for this, you must be a British passport holder and have lived permanently in the UK for the last 5 years.
