Structural Engineer

Exeter

£37,000-£42,000plus benefits

Our client is a boutique civil and structural engineering consultancy based in Exeter who are seeking a structural engineer to enhance their project delivery.

They are looking for a gregarious and talented individual who will fit well into their small team, who has extensive experience of buildings structures design and a high level of technical expertise.

You will quickly grasp how the company works, its ethos and client expectations taking on responsibility for your own projects but working closely with the Director.

Your CV should demonstrate previous experience on all types of buildings structures design for a range of sectors including residential, commercial, industrial and more. Experience in historic structures would be an advantage. Their project work commences at feasibility and runs through to delivery.

Requirements:

Degree in civil/structural engineering from UK university

Keen to gain Chartership

At least 3 years' experience in UK consultancy

Experience designing building structures

Proficient in Tekla and Tedds

If you have ever dreamed of moving to Devon, this could be the opportunity you have been waiting for! Our client is flexible and will consider working from home 2 days a week.

Reach out to Graham Ventham to discuss this further and send him your CV for consideration.
