Student Placement Counsellor

Who are we

Humankind is one of Englands most successful home-grown charities. We provide free, confidential support for alcohol, drugs, housing, or mental health in friendly local places across the UK. We are committed to fair chances for all and making sure everyone can access the help and support they need to realise their potential. By joining our teams of passionate individuals, you will be contributing to making this happen. You can really make a difference by believing in our service users and their ability to make positive changes when they dont always believe in themselves.

We are incredibly proud of the work that we do to help address health inequalities in England. Every five minutes, an individual accesses one of our services, and we have supported over 90, people across all our services last year. Check out our impact report to read more about the important work that we have done.

About the role

For the most part, our student placement counsellors undertake a placement with us to gain clinical hours for experience and to meet training requirements. We welcome applications from students studying BACP recognised counselling or psychotherapy modalities, and also specific addictions treatment modalities. We welcome applications from students wishing to see clients at early evening times and Saturday as well as normal weekday hours.

Core tasks:

Provide once weekly sessions to individuals, couples, or families.

Maintain a minimum caseload of three clients
