Exciting opportunity to work with a well-established, local manufacturer who are best known to support all their employees and to be a great place to work.

On offer is an interesting role where you will learn specialist engineering techniques and work office based hours, with a early finish on Fridays.

This company specialise in the design and manufacture of specialist products that are supplied into a number of industries across the world. This is an exciting time to join the company as they look to diversify their product range and investing heavily in their research and development. Therefore, they are looking to expand their Calibration Department to match their orders.

The day to day responsibilities for this role will be to calibrate, build and test on electronic and communication devices. The successful candidate will be provided initial support to get up to speed in the role and have the opportunity to progress in the company longer term.

The ideal candidate will be someone with an understanding of electronic assembly and a background working in a workshop/ production/ manufacturing environment.

This is a fantastic opportunity for someone looking for a full-time role, within an interesting industry with a leading company offering a great package.

The Role:

*Calibrate, build and testing of electronic devices

*Work with a small team of production staff

*Working with fine tools

*Training provided

*Days based shift pattern, Monday to Friday

The Person

*Experience working in a production environment

*Experience repairing or assembling or faulting finding on electronic products

*Soldering experience would be ideal
